County Finances Untangled

The county's tangled financial picture that showed $81,000 less this month than was shown previously on balance sheets, has been untangled by Harris, Havens, & Co., according to a report submitted by Ray Harris, partner in the Sinton auditing firm.

The report, released by County Judge O. B. Harden, follows:

"1. When our staff accountants were working with county auditor personnel teaching bank reconciliations in conjunction with the data processing computerized accounting for the general county record the amount of $3,000 was picked up on March 31, 1977 as a Road and Bridge General Fund drawing account balance in excess of the actual amount on hand. This amount was carried as a balance until July 1, 1977 when it was corrected on the records of the county auditor.

"2. On May 12, 1977, $24,000 was transferred from the Revenue Sharing Trust Fund account in the First National Bank, Cameron, to the Revenue Sharing Trust Fund drawing account in the Citizens National Bank, Cameron. The bookkeeper failed to learn of this transfer and continued to overstate the balance in the monthly financial reports until July 1, 1977.

"3. On May 12, 1977, $24,000 was transferred from the Rockdale State Bank general fund account to the Citizens National Bank general fund drawing account. As in 2 above, the bookkeeper continued to carry the balance in the Rockdale bank account which overstated the general fund balance in a like amount. On July 7, 1977, $30,000 was transferred from the Rockdale State Bank general fund drawing account balance to the Citizens National Bank drawing account balance. The July 1977 county financial report carried this item as a receipt when actually it was only a 'shift', hence receipts were overstated.

"When all of these items are added up, the total difference of $81,000 is accounted for. There are a number of reasons for the discrepancies, namely:

"1. Change from a bookkeeping system where only cash items clearing the bank(s) were recorded and the beginning and ending county fund balances were the same as those shown on bank statements, to an accounting system where deposits in transit and outstanding checks are recorded necessitating formal bank reconciliations at the end of each month.

"2. Transition from a manual bookkeeping system to a computerized data processing accounting system necessitating a significant effort on the part of county personnel to adjust and learn the new system. Included in the learning process is the requirement of good communications between all parties involved so as to avoid transfers (or other transactions) being made and not being followed through by other people involved.

"3. Carrying county fund drawing account balances, standing drawing accounts, and certificates of deposit fund balances in five county depository banks poses something of a problem. However I believe that problem can be successfully handled by means of monthly worksheets which I have designed and instructed county personnel to use. Also, it is necessary that the bookkeeper have monthly bank statements on all classes of bank balances to reconcile to. By use of the worksheets and having bank statements (for all classes of accounts) to reconcile to, the discrepancies that occurred in 1, 2, 3, and 4 above should not occur again.

"The people in the county finance offices have made a real effort and made good progress to adjust from a manual accounting system to a now modern accounting system.

"The discrepancies in the financial reports involve no shortage of funds. With remedial efforts carried out as described in the paragraph above, I feel that these sort of problems will not reoccur."

2 Die In Separate Traffic Mishaps

Two traffic accidents within 24 hours Sunday and Monday brought to eight the number of fatalities in the county for this year.

The seventh traffic death was recorded Sunday night around 9 when three men were thrown from the back of a pickup after it was struck by a tractor-trailer truck.

The death was that of James L. Reese, 44, of Gause, who died in Scott & White Hospital in Temple of injuries sustained in the accident. The other men were identified as Al Ruddick and William Niccar, who were admitted to a Hearne hospital for treatment.

Driver of the pickup was Bobbie Mae Hairston of Cameron. She and a passenger in the cab, Nora Ann Reese, were treated and released at the Hearne hospital.

According to investigating DPS Trooper Scott Douglas the pickup was attempting a left hand turn off Highway 79 west of Gause while the truck attempted to pass the pickup on the left side. Both vehicles were headed west at the time of the collision.

Reese was first taken to the Hearne hospital then transferred to Scott & White where he died.

A one-vehicle accident west of Rockdale Monday night claimed the life of a young Rockdale woman, and was believed to have been caused by a blowout.

Pronounced dead at the scene near the Alcoa turnoff on Highway 79 at 9:45 p.m. was Mrs. Wanda Davis Thrasher, 18. DPS Trooper Jerry Benson said Mrs. Thrasher was pinned in the wreckage of her 1969 Chevrolet pickup.

Her husband, Vernon Thrasher, who was a passenger in the pickup, was treated and released at Richards Hospital in Rockdale following the wreck.

Benson said the pickup was traveling east on 79 when it apparently went out of control, traveled across the highway, went into a bar ditch and overturned. He said a blowout on a rear tire may have caused the vehicle to go out of control.

The victim was pronounced dead at the scene by Justice of the Peace Leonard Allen and the body was taken to Phillips and Luckey Funeral Home.

Mrs. Thrasher's death was the eighth traffic fatality of the year for the county.

Yoe Chant To Appear Inside Your Herald

Yoe Principal Jack Chubb has announced the Yoe High Chant will appear periodically as a feature page in The Cameron Herald.

The Herald extended space each week for a separate Yoe Chant page, which students will not only write, edit and head, but will also receive instruction in page makeup in the Herald composition department.

School news will appear regularly in The Herald when released by various departments of Yoe High School and Cameron Independent School District, but the special page will appear when enough copy and pictures are produced by YHS Journalism students.

Yoe High School has been seeking to produce a newspaper for a number of years, but mimeograph is not adequate and printing a separate publication is beyond YHS student activities budget, officials said.

Mrs. W. L. McIntosh, YHS Journalism sponsor, said it would be several weeks before YHS students would begin the special publication page.

CISD Supt. Buddy Dullh was pleased at the development. He said YHS has been needing a publication of its own for several years, but budgeting appeared to make it impossible to produce anything in print but a mimeographed periodical.

Principal Chubb said a mimeographed high school paper is not adequate to show Journalism students how their stories and features turn out. And he said previous experience at Texarkana with a separate print newspaper proved a financial failure because the paper could not sustain itself with student readership and minimum ad support.

Herald composition employees will assist with makeup of the special page.

Woman Pleads Guilty To Murder

A Thorndale woman who pleaded guilty to a murder charge received a suspended sentence and a motion for a new trial for a man convicted on a rape charge was overruled in District Court August 18.

According to a report from County Atty. John B. Henderson Jr., Dorine Ware of Thorndale pleaded guilty to an indictment charging her with the murder of Ja Vance Roberson on February 1, 1977.

The court assessed her punishment at ten years confinement in the Texas Department of Corrections. The sentence was suspended by the court and Ware was placed on supervised adult probation for ten years.

She was assessed court costs of $107.50 and will pay a monthly supervision fee to the Milam County Probation Office in the amount of $10 per month.

Judge Don G. Humble overruled the motion for a new trial filed by Malton Campbell Jr. and sentenced Campbell to serve a term of 25 years in the Texas Department of Corrections at Huntsville. Campbell's attorney gave notice of appeal of the conviction to the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals.

Campbell was found guilty of rape of a Milam Motel clerk in July of 1976 by a jury on July 14, 1977. On Friday, he was transferred to the state penitentiary at Huntsville by sheriff's deputies.

Yoe Band To Sell Subscriptions To Herald And Magazines

STARTING SEPT. 8

Band, Herald Plan Subscription Drive

Two prize-winning Cameron institutions are joining in a three-week subscription drive throughout the Cameron area, beginning September 8.

The 115-member Yoe High School band will begin selling subscriptions to The Cameron Herald and to national magazines Thursday, September 8, in a house-to-house campaign.

All commissions in Herald and magazine sales will go to the C. H. Yoe High School band, a sweepstakes winner this spring.

Commission on sales of magazines is 40 per cent. Commissions on new Herald subscriptions is 50 per cent, renewals 40 per cent.

All funds will be used for special band trips to major marching and concert contests or parades where the Yoe Band has consistently performed in top brackets among double, triple and even four-A competition.

Band Director Jerry Bartley said the drive would continue for three weeks, ending September 26.

Herald publisher Frank M. Luecke said this is the Herald's way of going to every household in Cameron and vicinity and of boosting one of the most continuously successful high school bands in Central Texas.

"I can't think of a more deserving institution in the Cameron area than a YHS band which performs so well and represents Cameron and Milam County so well wherever they appear," Luecke said.

The band ran a successful subscription campaign last year while The Cameron Herald maintains consistent circulation development throughout the Milam area, Luecke said.

"It seemed like an excellent idea to combine the readership of The Cameron Herald and the great variety of fine magazines the YHS band offers for 40 per cent commission," Luecke continued. "New Herald subscriptions are offered at a 50 per cent commission to the band."

Regular progress reports will be made through the three-week campaign. Awards will be presented to the top subscription salesmen.

Help Bandsmen...

Your Herald is joining with the Yoe High School band in combining a circulation drive for Herald and magazine subscriptions early in September.

It is a natural combination for getting new and renewal subscriptions to your Herald and many of the great magazines published in this country.

We have a continuous program of circulation development at the Herald, but nothing pleases us more than YHS' fine 115-member band representing us throughout the Cameron area in this fund-raising program for YHS band trips and contest parades.

All commission proceeds from Herald and magazine sales will go to the YHS band.

It is the second year the band has conducted fundraising through subscription sales. Proceeds last year helped pay for bus trips to out-of-state competition where the band performed among some of the best in the Southwest.

It is likely the YHS band is seen by more people and represents Cameron and Milam County more often than any other group. They were sweepstakes winners in competition last spring. And the junior band program is growing.

It is another in Herald efforts to maintain broad coverage throughout the Milam area by person-to-person contact. We are flattered this institution and the band institution, both as modern as our skills can make them, are working together.

We invite every household in the Cameron area to help these bandsmen help themselves to some marvelous experience in the 1977-78 marching and concert year.

Enrollment Record High...

Some 1977 YHS graduates have enrolled at most of the major universities in the Southwest Conference and numerous other universities in Texas.

We note freshmen from the YHS class of '77 entering: Four at Texas Women's University; two at the University of Houston; one at the University of Texas -- Austin; one at Texas Tech University; three at Mary Hardin-Baylor; two at Sam Houston State University; two at Southwestern University; two at Southwest Texas State University; one at McMurray College; three at TSTI Waco; three at Temple Junior College; one at Braniff Travel School, Dallas.

It's quite a record, if not a unique one in terms of percentage of freshmen from one class beginning at the big campuses around Texas. The competition is considerable to get in and greater to stay.

It may be their response to the urging and interest shown by a generation of Cameron and Milam Areans in higher standards in the Cameron Independent School District during a turbulent time for public education.

By the start of these numbers we see CISD's response in their student generation has been to give as much as a school this size can to individual development. It is our opinion this group had a few extras which keep their sights high.

The enrollment record of this latest class of 1977 speaks well for student, school and community.

3 Major Water Agencies To Consolidate

AUSTIN—Three major Texas water agencies are moving toward consolidation September 1 into a massive Texas Department of Water Resources.

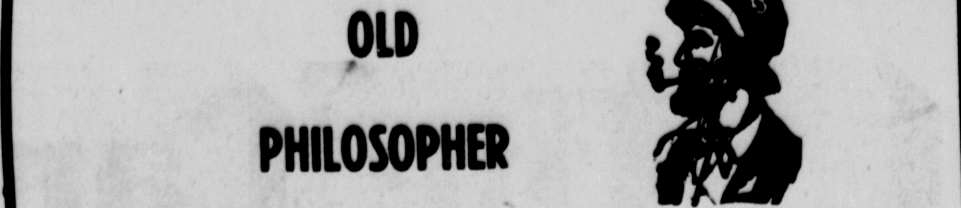

Acting heads of the new super-agency were named last week to begin supervising the reorganization. The two men considered most-likely contenders for the water "czar" position were passed over.

Charles E. Nemir, 45, who had served as assistant executive director of the Texas Water Quality Board, will be acting executive director of TDWR. Acting deputy director will be Dick Whittington, 49, who has been deputy director of the Texas Water Quality Board.

The 65th legislature ordered combining of the Water Quality Board, Water Development Board and Water Rights Commission.

James M. Rose, TWDB executive director, and Hugh Yantis, executive director of TWQB, were seen as top contenders to head the consolidated department.

Rose announced that he will pass up an offer to remain on the new governing board's staff and launch a planning, consulting and developing firm, offering to assist

Dear editor:

In examining the tangled affairs of Director Bert Lance of the Office of Budget and Management, one Washington expert complained about "sloppy country banking."

As I understand this, he means there's a difference between country banking and city banking, with the implication that city banking is superior.

What I want to know is where can I get hold of a list of some of those superior banks? For example, one of the biggest banks in Atlanta has just discontinued paying stockholders any dividends because it has lost too much money on bad loans. It's too late to get in on that, but if that Washington expert will let me in on the names of other big city banks in the business of making bad loans, I'd like to get in line. All the country banks around here believe in making only good loans.

As I understand Mr. Lance's situation, he borrowed money from one city bank to buy stock in another city bank, then when the first bank's note came due he borrowed from a third bank to meet that note. Washington experts try to make this sound complicated. Mr. Lance's problem is simple: he ran out of banks.

Now there are some people who're saying, when they learned that about everything Mr. Lance has is mortgaged to the hilt, that he shouldn't be in charge of managing the government's financial affairs when he's having so much trouble managing his own. This should not be put to a popular vote. He'd win hands down if he got the votes of everybody in America whose house, boat, both cars, lawnmower, television set, washing machine, dish washer, etc., are owed on.

I know a man who, fighting to pay his bills, sat down one day and figured up all the monthly payments he'd signed up for and discovered they came to more than his monthly income.

I don't know of any country bank interested in interviewing him for a job. He'd do better to apply to some superior city bank or, if that fails, try for a government job.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Q: I know a couple that has never paid income tax, and they seem to get away with it. The wife has always wanted to pay the taxes, but her husband wouldn't do it. Is she as guilty as he is? If he died, would she be responsible? And one more thing, is it my duty as a citizen to turn them in?

A: When a joint return is filed, each spouse is liable for the full amount of the tax, interest and penalties due. However, fraud penalties don't apply to a spouse who had no intention of defrauding the government. So, the wife might not be held responsible. Although you have no legal duty to report them, you can. Anyone supplying helpful information to the IRS about tax evaders may receive a reward of up to 10% of the taxes collected.

Q: I moved out of an apartment a month or so ago, leaving a forwarding address. Last week a friend of mine watched the manager opening a beauty club package that was addressed to me. Is there anything I can do to stop this invasion of privacy?

A: Federal law prohibits opening or destroying the mail of another person. However, the Attorney General is the only one who can file suit. All you can do is report a suspected violation to the Postal Department. One other thing, you could institute private suit for invasion of privacy, and if you are successful, you could get damages for your "mental suffering".

Letters TO THE EDITOR

August 17, 1977

Dear Friend,

I eagerly await your fine paper every week - a breeze from the dear old place where I was born and bred and lived for so many happy years. My roots are down deep in Milam County. My father at one time was sheriff of the county. My brother was the D. A. my sister a registered nurse and I was a court reporter. I sent court items to seven county papers - the Cameron Herald, Cameron Enterprise, Rockdale Messenger and Rockdale Reporter, Gause Gazette, Thorndale Thorn and Buchholtz Bulletin.

You can readily see why your new column is so interesting to me - "looking back". I can really look back a long way. The first editor I can remember was Oscar McAnally - in fact he may have established the Herald. At one time Cameron had two weekly papers - the Herald and the Enterprise. Everybody had to take both papers so as to keep up with the fuss, as the editors did not like each other.

I guess most of these papers have now folded but your paper is still a going strong so you must be the bestest with the mostest. Keep that Cameron Herald a coming please, with its "looking back".

Your friend,
(Mrs.) Don L. Avriett

Pesticide Applicator Needs Certification

By Bill McCutchen
Milam County Extension Agent

The Federal Insecticide, Fungicide and Rodenticide Act (FIFRA), was amended, enforced by the Environmental Protection Agency, includes among other requirements (1) classification of all uses of pesticides as either restricted use or general use (2) certification of applicators (private or commercial) as a requisite to the legal or supervision of restricted - use pesticides.

The Texas Pesticide Control Act (TPCA) established an additional category of pesticide applicator, the noncommercial applicator, and requires certification and licensing of the commercial and noncommercial applicator as a requisite to the use or supervision of use of restricted - use as well as state-limited-use pesticides.

The commercial applicators defined by the TPCA means "a person who owns or manages a pesticide application business engaged in the application of restricted-use or state-limited-use pesticide to the land of another."

The noncommercial applicator as defined by the TPCA means "a person or government agency or department which wants to use restricted-use or state - limited use pesticide or the authority to demonstrate restricted-use or state-limited-use pesticides and does not qualify as a private applicator and is not required to have a commercial applicator's license."

Certification is granted by the state regulatory agencies on the basis of an examination.

Workshops providing training opportunities for those who may seek certification as commercial or non-commercial applicators will be conducted by personnel of the Texas Agriculture Extension Service. Certification is granted by the appropriate state regulatory agency on the basis of an examination.

The workshop is not a requisite to certification as a commercial or noncommercial applicator and is not a part of the official certification process.

Commercial and non commercial applicators interested in attending these workshops should contact the County Extension Office for date, time, and place.

The full implementation of the amended Federal Insecticide, Fungicide, and Rodenticide Act is scheduled for October 21, 1977. On this date, barring any changes in the law, certification will be requisite to using or supervising use of restricted-use pesticides.

Brown Presents A&M Check For Fire Ant Research

AUSTIN—The battle presently being waged against the costly imported fire ant in Texas received some help recently when $200,000 in research funds were granted by the state legislature through the Texas Department of Agriculture. Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown presented the research funds Aug. 10 to Dr. Deville Clark, Dean and Acting Director of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, to aid in their work on genetic fire ant control. "We are very excited to be able to help facilitate the placing of these needed funds with experts we know will put them to maximum use in finding a solution to the fire ant problem," Brown commented.

He explained that the need for additional research has become particularly pressing due to the elimination of other chemicals, notably Mirex, as tools due to their negative environmental impact.

Hot Summer Weather Calls For Proper Cattle Handling

Hot summer temperatures can put cattle in stress if they are not managed properly, says a beef cattle specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

With proper management, cattlemen should not lose any cattle or suffer production losses during hot weather, believes Dr. Larry L. Boleman.

"When outside temperatures range from 90-100 degrees F., cattle should be left alone as much as possible," contends Boleman. "Avoid movement, crowding and handling of cattle because exercise and excitement increase body temperature. When the animal's physiological mechanisms are already trying to reduce body temperature during hot weather, any extra physical trauma may result in permanent damage or death to the animal."

The specialist also recommends delaying surgery such as dehorning and castration since excessive bleeding may occur due to the animal's increased blood flow during hot weather.

USDA Corrects Grain Sorghum Target Prices

Grain sorghum target prices for 1977 will be $3.75 cwt. This is according to USDA's latest calculation and is down from the $4.02 level earlier expected by GSPA.

The drop comes as a result of USDA using the average of 1974 and 1975 cost of production instead of 1975-76.

The dramatic increase in cost of production in 1975 and 1976 will boost 1978 target prices to about $4.27 cwt., USDA sources indicated.

Under the new 1977 farm bill, grain sorghum targets will be set in relation to the cost of production. This is a result of years of work by Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board and Grain Sorghum Producers Association in studying production cost and GSPA initiating legislation in 1973 that required USDA to do an in-depth study of production cost.

If cattle must be moved on foot or transported during heat stress periods, this should be done during the early morning, at night or in late afternoon when temperatures are cooler. If cattle must be worked, they should be moved to a holding trap in late evening and worked early the next morning.

"Although wind movement from fans can increase feed intake, daily gains and improved feed conversion for feedlot cattle, shade is about the only economical means for cow-calf operators to change the environment. Research has shown that during periods of 90 degrees F. weather with a relative humidity of 63 per cent, cattle under shade gained weight while those without shade lost weight," points out Boleman.

"To improve management practices, producers must first understand the physiological mechanisms that beef cattle use to control body heat created by increased environmental temperatures," contends Boleman. "Animals seek to remove excessive heat by increasing blood flow, water is added to the blood and there is a greater rate of respiration and sweating. All cattle possess the ability to maintain body temperatures under heat stress. Studies have shown that Brahman and Brahman cross maintain lower body temperatures and respiration rates due to a lower heat production when compared to other breeds.

It is important to the life processes of the animal that a normal temperature be maintained, emphasizes Boleman. The normal body temperature of cattle taken rectally averages 101.5 F. and has a range of 100.4 - 102.8 degrees

F. It is lower in cold weather, in older animals and at night. Rising environmental temperatures as well as excitement, exercise and infection increase this body temperature along with the pulse and respiration rates.

The pulse rate indicates the rapidity of heart action. It can be taken either on the outside of the jaw just above its lower border, on the soft area immediately above the inner dewclaw, or just above the hock joint. The normal pulse rate is 60-70 per minute.

To determine the respiration rate, place the hand on the flank or observe the rise and fall of the flanks. The normal respiration rate is 10-30 per minute.

"With proper care during hot weather, cattle can continue to function efficiently," adds Boleman. "The key is to keep their rate of activity down."

Peanut Tour Set For Area

A peanut tour will be held in Milam County on Tuesday, August 30. The tour group will meet at the Milam County courthouse at 8 a.m. and will proceed to the first stop on the tour in the Marlow Community at Ray Boatright's farm.

Dr. Leland Tripp, peanut specialist with Texas Agricultural Extension Service, will participate in the tour and discuss peanut production, practices and problems.

The second stop will be at John Eisfeldt's where TAM Nut 74 and Comet varieties will be observed. The third stop will be at Joe Pagach's in the Maysfield area. The fourth stop will be at Eugene Mekush's farm and the fifth and final stop will be at Burtis Pittman's farm.

All peanut producers and other interested individuals are invited to attend this event.

MEAT GROUP

Principal nutrients in food are proteins (amino acids), fats, carbohydrates (sugars and starches), vitamins, minerals and water. Protein is made up of amino acids, which are put together as important building blocks of body tissues. The main structural units of the body are the many different protein molecules that the body makes from the amino acids it has obtained from the proteins of foods.

Major sources of protein are the Meat Group and its alternates. Foods included are: beef, veal; lamb; pork; variety meats, such as liver, heart, kidney; poultry; eggs; fish and shellfish; alternates — dry beans, dry peas, lentils, nuts, peanuts and peanut butter. Foods in the Meat Group contribute the protein, which is needed for the repair of body tissues — muscle, organs, blood, skin and hair. These foods also provide iron, thiamine, riboflavin and niacin.

Two or more servings of protein foods should be eaten every day. Count as 1 serving: 2 to 3 ounces (not including bone weight) cooked lean meat, poultry or fish. Count as alternates for 1 serving of meat, poultry or fish: 2 eggs; 1 cup cooked dry beans, dry peas or lentils; or 4 tablespoons of peanut butter.

Animal proteins are considered high quality while proteins from vegetables, grains and nuts are generally considered lesser quality. This lesser quality can be upgraded so that sufficient quantity of all essential amino acids is provided to the body. This can be done by combining a little animal protein with the lesser quality protein. For example: dry beans with cheese or a little meat; peanut butter sandwich with a glass of milk. However, in proper combinations, lesser quality proteins can be used as the only protein source. For example, beans with corn tortillas.

State Ranks No. 1 in U.S. In Sorghum

AUSTIN—Texas farmers helped make the state No. 1 in the nation in sorghum production last year, with a total of 292,900,000 bushels being harvested, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown has announced.

Brown noted, however, that of the 7,300,000 acres planted in sorghum in Texas, only 5,800,000 were harvested. Harvesting of an excellent crop was underway in southern Texas when heavy rains caused much of the grain to turn black or sprout in the head before harvesting was complete, Brown stated. In addition, he said, an early freeze on the High Plains damaged numerous late crops.

An average yield of 50.5 bushels per acre was reported, Brown said.

'NOT FUNNY, BUT STUPID' said city building official Ed Bigbee about the defaced sign and street writing shown here. He pointed out that there is a $200 fine for defacing public property with each day a separate offense. Bigbee emphasizes that damage as this costs the taxpayers extra money, and said over 100 traffic signs in the city are bent or defaced in some way and will have to be replaced. He said the culprits will eventually be caught.

4-H Notes

By Joseph Janak, Jr.

With the entry deadline for the up-coming stock shows near, everyone will want to make sure they are entered in time. This will save you from a state of confusion and will assure you a legal entry.

The entry deadline for the state fair in Dallas is September 1, while for the Heart-O-Texas Fair in Waco is September 15. Remember to fill out the 4-H Junior entry and summary cards completely, and return to the county extension office, as they must be signed by the county extension agent.

The Washington County Fair and Youth Rodeo will be held September 23 and 24. Entries are due September 1 and can be obtained from the county extension office. It will be held in Brenham in the new livestock barns.

September 13 a feeder Pig selection fitting and showing clinic will be held at the Youth Exposition building in Cameron. Dr. W. B. Thomas, swine specialist at Texas A&M University, will be present to conduct the clinic. It will start at 6 p.m. Everyone is invited to attend.

For 4-Hers who have a green thumb, now is the time to start your fall garden. Besides providing you a base to build your record book on, it will provide you and your family with fresh vegetables throughout the fall and winter.

Vegetables that do good at this planting season are beans (snap and lima), turnips and carrots. Others are onion seed (green onion), collards, mustard and kale. Don't forget potatoes. A fall garden without potatoes is like a glass of tea without ice. In September your beans, radishes, spinach and lettuce can be planted.

With probable rain coming up in the next few weeks, the soil should be prepared so it can soak up the moisture and be ready for planting.

Texas Food and Fiber

by Reagan V. Brown, Commissioner
Texas Department of Agriculture

The paradox of high and low prices is frustrating our farmers and ranchers, and if Washington soothsayers are correct, the high rate of inflation will continue well into 1978, which will add to agriculture's woes.

What is frustrating the producers of food and fiber is the high prices they pay for the goods and services they must have to stay in business and the low prices they receive for the products they market. A continuation of such an arrangement can mean a lot of broke farmers and ranchers.

Texas' farmers and ranchers—in fact, the farmers and ranchers of America—must, like any other businessman or businesswoman, make a profit if they are to stay in business and contribute to the well-being of their community, state and nation.

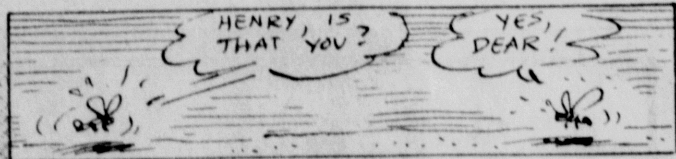

What must be very frustrating to the farmers and ranchers is the continued parade of announcements from Washington that price increases in food have slackened their rise and have taken a slight dip downward.

At the same time these sayers are making their pronouncements about the decline in food prices, they are predicting prices of other goods and services to continue their climb up the inflation ladder.

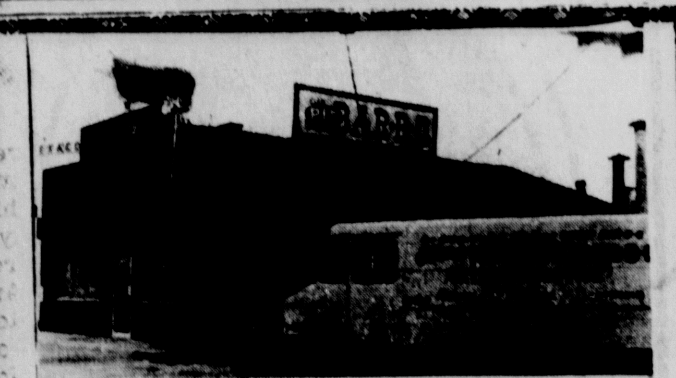

Certainly, our farmers and ranchers could endure the low prices they receive for their wheat, corn, soybeans, cotton, and cattle if they could pay comparable prices for the necessities they must have to keep this nation the best fed and clothed in the world. But it isn't working out this way. The gap between what the farmers and ranchers receive for their products and what they pay for goods and services is much, much too wide.

The farmers and ranchers of Texas do not seek sympathy for their plight. They are accustomed to low rewards for the fruits of their labors. All they want is a fair shake at the market place so they can earn a living for themselves and their families, pay their taxes and not be haunted by the specter of going broke and losing their farm and ranch to inflation.

I do not think this is asking too much.

GOD'S LANDMARKS

When I was a little girl, I used to think that God lived in the steeple of Grandfather's church. I believed, too, that Grandfather had a marvelous monopoly, a private pipeline connecting him with those upper regions.

When I told him, Grandfather hugged me close and chuckled. "Child," he said, "You can't shut God up in a church or in one man's heart. He's everywhere — in whispering winds, the wild goose's call, in winter's purple clouds and scarlet leaves of fall. Wherever you see beauty — you see God."

Not long ago I went back to that little town and visited the church. It looked just the same. The white spire gleamed in the sun, piercing the blue summer sky. Wide doors stood open and inviting, and a gentle breeze wafted faint strains of an anthem to me. I remembered Grandfather's words, and a prayer of thanks rose in my heart for his church. Silently I prayed too for all the landmarks of God — His churches that spread across this land, symbols of His might and glory.

Higher Taxes Predicted To Pay For Energy Plan

If you like your share of the federal income taxes and how it is spent --

If you think it is fine that the federal government redistributes 28.6% of our national income in the process of spending our tax money --

If you like the idea of taxes held as a club over your head --

If you do, then you will love President Carter's program for solving the nation's long-term energy crisis.

The cost of waging war, even the moral equivalent of war, is staggering. The Chamber of Commerce of the United States and its economists state that the Administration's energy plan requires the largest increase in peacetime taxes in the history of the United States.

The plan calls for massive efforts to reduce U. S. reliance on high-priced, uncertain supplies of foreign oil. To discourage waste and encourage conservation of energy, the plan places large tax increases on industry and utilities that use crude oil and natural gas. In turn these taxes will increase taxes paid by American consumers. The plan also would include provision for higher taxes on gasoline and a special tax on gas-guzzler automobiles.

By 1985 and thereafter, according to the Chamber, these taxes would average $1,320 for a family of four.

According to the Tax Foundation, the average worker now spends two hours and 42 minutes each working day to pay his taxes. He would have to work an additional 45 minutes each day to pay for higher energy taxes, or a total of three hours and 27 minutes of each working day to pay for all taxes.

Moreover, says the Chamber, most of the burden would fall on low and middle-income families.

The Chamber endorses President Carter's conservation goals but says he offers only half an answer to the problem -- conservation. The other half is greater production of energy.

Instead of relying on taxes, the Chamber believes the natural forces of supply and demand in the market place can achieve conservation and greater production simultaneously. If prices rise with market demands, the Chamber argues, the public will consume less because energy costs more. Producers will be motivated to explore and increase supplies because it is profitable to do so. The Chamber estimates a 6% yearly rise in prices would serve the two-fold purpose of conservation and production.

"The modest increase in prices would cost about $420 per family of four in the form of revenues for gas and oil producers which would then be used primarily for job-creating investments," the Chamber says.

Whereas the White House plan would cost $1,320, or $900 more a year, slow the economy and raise consumer prices by 2.4% says the Chamber, the market-place approach would increase jobs by nearly half a million and hold the rise in consumer prices to 1%.

Congress is debating its own energy program. Your Representative in Congress should know how you feel. Who knows, he may dislike taxes, too.

Panel members will be Howard Cox of the SBA in Dallas; Jim Davis, vice president, commercial lending, First National Bank of Temple; Jim Linzy, partner in the law firm of Flood, Linzy and Thigpen; John Parish, CPA, comptroller, First National Bank of Temple, and Rogers Reinowski, vice president, real estate lending, First National Bank of Temple.

The program will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. on Sept. 7 in Room 107 of the Administration Building at TJC. Registration is $9 and the class will be limited to 25.

Additional information and registration is available at the TJC Continuing Education Office, 773-9961, ext. 66.

Yoe Scrimmages Austin Crockett Friday Here

A scrimmage at 7 p.m. Friday with Austin Crockett at Yoe Field will hopefully show who will make the starting lineup, according to Yoe headcoach Max Graham.

Despite the heat, there have been no injuries during the two-a-days, Graham told The Herald.

Coach Graham said there are many promising players among the 31-man squad vying for varsity berths.

During each scrimmage, coaches direct contact work in one area at a time: backs, quarterbacks, and linemen, Coach Graham said.

Seniors Yoe coaches are looking to for leadership and strength on the field include David Rosemond, running at quarterback, a converted halfback thus far; Alan Richardson at 173 running at fullback with David Rinn, 160 pounds, and Nathaniel Whitfield, a 205-pound junior.

Seventeen seniors give Graham's '77 Yomen an experienced club which pre-season ratings acknowledge as a challenger for the district title.

Largest man on the team is junior Mike Marek, a 260-pound junior while the lightest is Ronnie Orsag, a 130-pound wingback candidate.

Cameron is rated strong on defense in pre-season view, but is looking for the right quarterback to open the way for quick-start halfbacks like Rosemond, who ran well last season off the T halfback.

The line should average about 175 pounds if Albert Hanel at 191 and Marek at 260 are among the starters, defensive or offensive. James Thompson is a 195-pound senior tackle and Jimmy Zalesky is another 190-pound junior tackle.

Only one sophomore, Dean Lewis, is on the varsity squad, running at tailback at 140 pounds.

Another 190-pounder, senior tight end John Schmidt, brings the Yoe line weight up. A junior, Ronald Cobb, weighs in at 180.

Coach Graham said the whole squad is enthusiastic and working hard. Morale is high and team and coaches look forward to a good crowd to watch the first Yoe scrimmage of the year against Crockett.
